We're typesetters, not designers.

You won't find us throwing an impromptu critique of your cover design, or pushing you to change your page layout. It's not our style. Our greatest interest is in good typesetting, and it shows in the speed and quality of our work.

Through editing, proofreading, fixing word breaks, checking consistency of style, and formatting tables and figures, our work stands out from the pack.

Recognized for excellence at the regional and national level, BMW&W is committed to superior craftsmanship, service, and value.

On a sidenote: If you find you would like some design advice, we can refer you to our fully-staffed design department that can help you with any of your creative needs.

The

desktop publishing movement has forever changed the face of typesetting as we know it—trading quality for speed in most cases—but at BMW&W, we believe there can be a happy medium. Our team of experienced typesetters and proofreaders merge the artful skills of the past with the speed and precision of the present—on time and at a fair price.

Experience makes the difference.

Our publications services staff is experienced in book, journal, magazine, research paper, and annual report typesetting, with a strong background in the tabular and math equation typesetting of economic journals and reports.

We also specialize in Spanish, French, and Portuguese publications. Our uniquely skilled group of professionals can weather the challenges of any project, on almost any deadline—from 12 pages to 1,200 pages or more.

your back.*

At BMW&W, every project gets team treatment. Our typesetters and proofreaders take turns checking for content and accuracy in every stage of the process. That's several sets of eyes checking and double-checking your work for you, helping to ensure that your project will be a success. It's a simple quality control process for us that translates into substantial stress reduction for our clients.

*Full coverage

Nobody's vacation or sick day will halt the progress of your project. Ever. Our publications services division is a full coverage operation, adequately staffed to keep your project on schedule, no matter what.

And at BMW&W, we believe that good work shouldn't have to cost a small fortune. We charge a fair market rate for our work, without any hidden costs or surprises at the end.

Keeping pace with technology.

Our typesetters stay up-to-date with a variety of software programs, and can produce and deliver your project by messenger, express mail, or in one of many digital formats including native application files, postscript, or PDF. We also have the capability to convert Excel and PowerPoint presentations to usable graphics, and to build figures from plot points or hard copy alone.

Our on-site facilities include an extensive font library, black and white and color laser printers, scanners, CD-burners, a wide assortment of software, and the latest in PC and Macintosh computing technology. We have an FTP site and DSL service for fast and efficient digital transfer of files.

“I’ve been in this business for years and I’ve never seen a company that produces cleaner copy. There is obviously a concern for the product and the recipient. I really admire that.”
